

English: - In our English lessons this week we will be looking at poetry. The children will explore different poems and describe how they make them feel. We will then move on to looking at autumn inspired poems and use our senses to write our own autumn poems.

Phonics: - We will be revising the following sounds we have been learning this term

Maths: - We will be beginning to look at part part whole models and how to write number sentences.

Computing: We will continue to practise logging onto purple mash and will explore a range of simple activities.

Geography: - We will be looking at the different types of homes in the UK and will be talking about similarities and differences. Please could you send in a picture of your home from the outside for us to use during this discussion. You could email the pictures (send it to the school office with child and class name) or send in picture.

Science: We will continue to observe the changes in the environment during the autumn season and will be creating an autumn tree display in our classroom.

At home you could:

- We have noticed that some children have not logged onto Numbots, please could you make sure that you have logged on and explored the programme.
- Read with your children for 10mins every day and write in their reading records.

Autumn inspiration:

To help inspire our poetry writing next week we would be grateful of donations of autumnal objects. These could include leaves, conkers, chestnuts, cinnamon sticks, hot chocolate, marshmallows, small pumpkins or anything that reminds you of autumn! Please could these be sent in by Tuesday – thank you.
